

Dear diary,

The jungle around the cabin is full of life. Today I see four different shapes of eyes! From both adult animals as well as their little ones.

- The monkeys are louder than usual. Their one-eyed leader seems to be screaming the loudest.
- The jaguars seem to be doing very well this spring. They had the most babies of all animals in the jungle.
- One elephant is still exiled from the herd after his failed attempt to become their new leader.
- There are also venomous snakes in the jungle. I hope they don't disturb my much-needed rest.

I identify animals in the night by shining my flashlight and looking at the left eye, which gleams the brightest.

MY LIST OF ANTIDOTES

Ant's Bane

Epiphyte Flavoring

Frog's Bloom

Brown Algae

Blueberry Creeper

Alligator's Bile

Essence of Dracaena

Bird Flower

Cactus Blush

Extract Bromelias